

Financial Assistance

If a student's financial aid application is complete, but admission requirements have not been met, then financial aid will not be applied to the student's bill until the admissions process is complete.

If financial aid is complete and a student has a credit on their account, the refund will be issued by the Student Business Office. Please note the dates on the calendar when excess funds will be available.

Further inquiries about financial aid can be directed to Financial Assistance in the Cardwell Welcome Center.

For questions regarding class drops, withdrawals, class repeats, and financial assistance eligibility, students should refer to the Undergraduate Academic Policies or Graduate Academic Policies in the catalog, or visit the Financial Assistance Office.

Upon enrollment, LCU must provide each student written notice advising them of the penalties for drug violations under The Higher Education Act (Title IV, Section 485 (k)). Suspension of eligibility applies only to federal aid and all other aid is subject to LCU policies.
